DEFINITION:

POLICY:

1. The Government Employees Compensation Act (GECA) is federal legislation under which compensation is provided to employees of the federal government. The GECA does not apply to regular members of either the Canadian Forces or the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Members of the reserve force of both the Canadian Forces and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police as well as civilian members of the Canadian Forces are covered under the GECA.

POLICY NUMBER: POL-140

2. The GECA provides that an employee is entitled to compensation if the employee is injured by an accident arising out of and in the course of the employment or if the employee is disabled by reason of an industrial disease due to the nature of the employee's employment.

Under the GECA, where federal government employees are usually employed in Prince Edward Island, the employees (and their dependants) are entitled to receive compensation at the same rate and under the same conditions as provided under the province's Workers Compensation Act.

3. The provisions of the Workers Compensation Act and Workers Compensation Board policies apply to federal government employees' claims except where the GECA clearly outlines otherwise.
